

Free Exposure For Your New Product!

Every month, the editors pick items for the “What’s New” column. Working from press releases, they describe new or improved products and services of interest to homebuilt aircraft builders.

To be considered, simply send us a press release with your basic sales information. Please use the checklist below to help make sure your information is complete. Consideration is given to all news releases submitted. However, space limitations, deadlines and editorial discretion determine final selections for publication.
